

7 Signs That It Might Be Time to Call Family Hospice

The patient has recently made multiple trips to the ER.

The family is making frequent phone calls for help as they struggle to manage symptoms.

The family reports several recent falls by the patient.

The patient is experiencing loss of appetite and weight loss.

The caregiver is burned out as the patient requires more and more assistance.

The patient is in cognitive decline as they become less engaged and require constant redirecting.

The patient is frequently out of breath and has to stop to rest as they perform simple daily activities.

When your patient needs us, FAMILY HOSPICE is ready to help!

Understanding the Hospice Benefit

FAMILY HOSPICE provides the following services as part of the hospice benefit:

- Weekly scheduled visits by a registered nurse (RN) to manage symptoms and medications while managing the overall well-being of each patient (frequency based on the need of each patient).
- 24/7 on-call nursing staff available. We become the patient and families' new 911!
- Scheduled CNA visits to assist with ADL's (frequency based on individual needs).
- Each patient is assigned a social worker and a chaplain to provide patient and family support.
- Durable medical equipment (DME) is provided for patient safety and lifestyle assistance.
- Supplemental medical supplies are provided to support both the patient and the family.
- Volunteers are available to offer support and companionship.
